

Ramsell Correctional Application (RCA) for Community Based Organizations (CBO) seeks to break the cycle of recidivism by automating the Correctional Discharge Planning and Community Supervision processes. RCA connects ex-offenders to vital services in the community. RCA brings structure to the movement of offenders from institution to community and among community providers. Through a sophisticated, secure and proprietary cloud-based application, RCA offers CBOs the ability to:

- Pre-screen eligibility – Smart Match™ module avoids inappropriate referrals and automates time consuming tasks such as identifying community resources.
- Scheduling appointments – Manage correctional referrals.
- Ex-offender supervision – Provides visibility and management of activity of formerly incarcerated men, women and juveniles for supervision and reporting purposes.
- Shared case management – Strengthens existing relationships with CBO partners.
- Document/Scanning – Enables the sharing of private medical documents in a secure and HIPAA compliant environment.
- 100% Free – There are no hidden charges or software costs.

RCA was developed using real workflows from correctional professionals and CBOs around the country. Our free, web-based referral and collaborative case management software enables CBOs to create a continuity of Care Bridge, allowing for the efficient and effective hand-off of an ex-offender from incarceration to society, and creating an environment that allows for the ex-offenders successful transition back to the community.

RCA is fully featured. Our system can be used to schedule and manage appointments, access vital medical information to reduce duplication of care, collaborate with other CBOs providing care/services to the ex-offender population, monitor adherence and activity, and most importantly, reduce cost. Additionally, RCA's intuitive reports engine enables your CBO to generate critical reports on information that's captured in RCA.
