

Premium Payments for Wrap-Around Payer Programs

The payment of health insurance premiums can provide access to medical and prescription benefits at a reduced cost. When a program provides wrap around coverage for clients with an existing health insurance, the program can realize reduced costs if the health insurance is maintained by the client.

Many wrap-around payer programs are willing to maintain the client's health insurance by assisting in the payment towards the health insurance premium payment amount. Managing a premium payment program requires the accurate documentation of client premium payment amounts and payment frequencies, as well as the information pertaining to the various health insurance plans.
